

Best Man Wedding Toast Example 1

Good evening, everyone. Tonight, we are all here to honor Bride and Groom. As the groom's best friend/brother/cousin, I feel honored to be standing next to him on such an important day in his life. We have gone through so much together in life, and I cannot imagine being anywhere but here on this special occasion.

(Discuss one to two memories for a few minutes.)

Groom, you have such a love of life, and I am so happy that you have found a wife to share that love with for the rest of your days.

(Talk about specific traits of the groom and the bride.)

Tonight, we celebrate the union of our two wonderful friends, Bride and Groom. Let us raise a glass in high hopes of happiness for many years to come!

(After applause, introduce the maid of honor for her speech.)

Best Man Toast Example 2

Good evening. I just want to say that this has been a wonderful day! I'm so happy to be a part of such a joyous celebration of the love that Bride and Groom have for each other. I have to admit, I never thought I'd see Groom happier than the year his football team won the Super Bowl (or insert other instance of sports team win), but Bride, you have made him the happiest I've ever seen him. As Groom's brother/friend/cousin, I am so grateful that he found you.

(Insert a humorous story about your relationship with the groom and finish with a heartfelt wish for the couple.)

Bride and Groom, I wish you the best life has to offer, and I know the two of you will continue to love and support each other. Join me in raising your glasses in a toast to Bride and Groom, may you forever be as happy as you are tonight.

(After applause, introduce the maid of honor for her speech.)

Drawn from: https://weddings.lovetoknow.com/wiki/Sample\_Wedding\_Day\_Toasts

“So I’d like you all to charge your glasses and join me in toasting the new Mr and Mrs Brown. Ladies and Gentlemen, I give you the bride and groom.”

“Wishing them all the health, wealth and happiness in the world, I’d like you all to join me in toasting the happy couple. Ladies and Gentlemen, the bride and groom.”

“Now it only remains for me to get you all on your feet. And with charged glasses [pause] I’d like you to join me in toasting the new Mr and Mrs Roberts. Ladies and Gentlemen, I give you the wonderful bride and groom.”

“And now all I have left to do is to say what a privilege it is to ask everyone here to charge their glasses and – for those of you who still can! – to rise to your feet. Ladies and Gentlemen... the bride and groom.”

“Ladies and Gentlemen, will you please join me now in toasting two young – well, quite young! – people who have everything, because [looks at couple] you love each other. Ladies and gentlemen, the lucky couple.”

“To finish with some words from the bard: “Love comforteth like sunshine after rain.” So, you two, I hope your marriage is full of intermittent drizzle, followed by days of blistering heat. To the bride and groom.”

“To the adorable couple: Mark and Lisa.”

“Jerry – my best friend – some words of advice in the form of a wise old poem. “To keep a marriage brimming with love in the loving cup, when you are wrong, admit it and when you are right, shut up!” To Jerry and Claire!”

“Here’s to the two things that – without doubt – make a great marriage. Here’s to a good sense of humour, and selective hearing. Ladies and gentlemen – the bride and groom.”

“Before we toast the happy couple, here’s to wives and lovers everywhere – and to them never, ever meeting!”

“I’d like to end by toasting the bride and groom. But just before I do, I’d like to some lines from a song to the groom, Richard. The song was written many years ago but the lyrics, I believe, are still meaningful today. [Speak the words, with no tune] “She loves you, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah. She loves you, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah. And with a love like that, you know you should be glad. Ladies and Gentlemen, I give you the bride and groom.”

“I asked my dad, joker that he is, what type of toast I should do at the wedding and he replied: “French”. Bon, sans vous faire attendre un instant de plus, Mesdames et Messieurs, je vous presente... Monsieur et Madame Jones. Les nouveaux maries! A John et Jude!”

“Before I offer a toast to Tony and Marie, I’d like to leave you with one thought: you don’t marry someone you can live with, you marry someone you can’t live without. In this case, these two really have married the right person. To the bride and groom.”

Drawn from:

<https://www.confetti.co.uk/wedding/speeches/toast-examples-for-best-man-speeches/>